Fire And Ice

- Robert Frost

I Answer the following Word Meanings:

a Desire: Strong feeling of wanting something

b distruction: Process of causing severe damage

c Faviour: approval

d Perish: To die or destroyed

e Suffice: to be enough

Sentences ?

II Reference To Context:

1 Some ---------- Fire.

a 'It' is the above stanza stands for _____

Ans Ice

b what does ice symbolize here?

i greed (iii)- desire

ii hatred (iv)- fury

Ans (ii) hatred

c with what does poet compare ice and why?

Ans The poet compares ice to hatred and cold indeifference just as ice freezes and destroyes, hatred has the power to numb emotions and lead to devastation. He warns against its destructive force.

d The word suffice means

Ans be sufficient

e Complete the Analogy.

Ans Fire:Desire:: Ice: Hatred

This reflects how Frost equates fire with passionate, consuming emotions like desire, while ice represents cold, destructive feelings like hatred, Both have the power to bring destruction in their own ways.

III Answer the following in Short Answers:

Q1 what are the two popular views in the society regarding the destruction of the world?

Ans Society holds two views about the world's destruction:

Some believe it will end in fire, symbolizing desire and intense passions that consume everything. Others think it will perish in ice, representing hatred and cold indifference, which slowly erodes and destroys. Robert Frost highlights both as powerful, destructive forces that can lead to humanity's downfall.

Q2 what do you think would be enough to destroy the world?

Ans Both uncontrollable desire and deep hatred are enough to destroy the world, as Robert Frost suggests in 'Fire and Ice'. Desire can lead to chaos and greed, while hatred breeds devision and conflict. whether through fiery passion or icy indifference, humanity's own emotions could be the greatest threat to its survival.

IV Answer the following in long answers:

Q1 Discuss about the two contrasting ideas in the poem. How can extreme human behaviour bring the probable end of the world. Illucinate with reference to 'Fire and Ice'.

Ans Robert Frost's Fire and Ice is a thought-provoking poem that explores two powerful forces of destruction - fire, representing passion and desire, and ice, symbolizing hatred and indefference. He presents a chilling realization: Both extreme emotions have the capacity to end the world, whether through the chaos of uncontrollable ambition greed or the cold, creeping decay of apathy and cruelty.

Scanned with OKEN Scanner

~~Fire, much~~

Desire, like fire can spread uncontrollably, consuming everything in its path. It can lead to greed, ambition, and conflict, ultimately bringing chaos. On the other hand, hatred, much like ice, has the ability to freeze relationships, emotions, and even humanity itself. It slowly erodes trust, fuels divisions, and can lead to destruction in a more subtle but equally devasting way.

Frost's poem serves as a warning - whether through fiery recklessness or icy cruelty, humanity's own behaviour has the potential to bring its downfall. By recognizing these dangers, we can learn to control our emotions before they lead to irreversible consequences.

Scanned with OKEN Scanner